

Which stage is your city?

Complete the survey to identify which stage your city is at. Choose either 'Yes' or 'No' as an answer for each question. (You can obtain the results by completing the online survey at <https://mcr2030.undrr.org/resilience-roadmap/stage-assessment>)

#	Question	Answer
		Yes	No
1	Your local government has issued a clear statement of its vision and goals for increasing its resilience and sustainability	Yes	No
2	Your local government has discussed and conducted orientation for staff and the city council on the initiative to enhance resilience	Yes	No
3	Your local government has held public consultations and awareness events on resilience building in the past 12 months	Yes	No
4	Your local government is planning to hold or has held a workshop or meeting to initiate the risk reduction / resilience strategy development process.	Yes	No
5	Your local government has assessed its own institutional and administrative capacities for resilience	Yes	No
6	Resilience-related mandates and powers of your local government authorities and other stakeholders are clearly defined	Yes	No
7	Your local government has carried out multi-hazard, exposure, risk and vulnerability assessments to inform the development of a risk reduction/resilience strategy	Yes	No
8	Your local government has established multi-stakeholder platforms to raise awareness, collaborate and build support for resilience	Yes	No
9	There is adequate legal and policy backing for resilience planning and implementation, with clear accountability for decisions in your local government	Yes	No
10	Your local government has a Chief Resilience Officer, a designated risk reduction officer, or equivalent multi-sectoral committee on resilience building as a focal point	Yes	No
11	Relevant data are shared between local government departments and with other stakeholders and used to inform resilience planning and decision making in your local government	Yes	No
12	Your local government has a risk reduction/ resilience strategy or equivalent that sets priorities, targets/indicators, identifies actions and assigns responsibilities to reduce risks and enhance resilience of the local government (on top of emergency response and preparedness)	Yes	No
13	Your city's risk reduction/resilience implementation plan has been endorsed by the local government and/or city council	Yes	No
14	Risk reduction / resilience is integrated into your city's development and other local government strategies and plans as a cross-cutting issue	Yes	No
15	Climate risks are factored into your city's risk reduction / resilience strategy and action plans	Yes	No

Making
Cities
Resilient

Contact Us

MCR2030 Global Secretariat for overall inquiries: mcr2030-global@un.org

MCR2030 Regional Secretariats for interest to join as city members or partners, and for regional specific inquiries:

- Africa: mcr2030-africa@un.org
- Americas and the Caribbean: mcr2030-amc@un.org
- Arab States: mcr2030-arabstates@un.org
- Asia-Pacific: mcr2030-ap@un.org
- Europe and Central Asia: mcr2030-europe@un.org